Message from the Director

As this year draws to a close I would like to take this opportunity to first thank you all for your interest and contributions to the Nursing Care Field in 2013. Our role as a Field is to support the conduct, dissemination and utilisation of systematic reviews relevant to nursing care and we could not undertake this role without our members.

I would like to let you know that I will be retiring at the end of this year from my role as Director of the Nursing Care Field as well as the Executive Director of the Joanna Briggs Institute. It has been such a pleasure to be part of the Field and I wish it every success in the future. The Field’s headquarters will remain at the University of Adelaide and its new Director will be announced shortly.

A two day Symposium was held in Melbourne on the 20th-21st November by the Australasian Cochrane Centre. Titled ‘The Future of Systematic Review’ the event was well attended and included presentations from various Cochrane identifies including the new CEO Mark Wilson. Our very own Prof Pearson gave a plenary on ‘Developing and delivering resources and tools designed to facilitate practice-change informed by evidence’
